Kadiri Taluk.

Kadiri was a portion of the Cuddapah district up to 1910, and was then transferred to this district for conv of administration. It is the largest taluk in the district, being 1,158 square miles. It is irregular in shape and its length and breadth are 45 and 35 miles respectively bounded on the north and east by Pulivéndla and R taluks respectively of the Cuddapah district, south by M palle taluk of Chittoor district, and west by Penukor Hindupur taluks. It is rocky and cut up by detached hill destitute of vegetation. Its forests, though extens neither so rich nor so picturesque as those of the a Penukonda taluk. There are no rivers save the Madda the Pápaghni, the former being but the outlet of the cheruvu tank of Kadiri and the latter of the Kandukúru Madanapalle taluk. Neither of them is of any great ad for irrigation. The larger tanks are Kadiri, Mutyála Pantulacheruvu, Patnam and Vankamaddi; the oth insignificant and precarious. The irrigation is most private wells. Almost all the dasabandham wells were over to the inamdars at the recent resettlement.

2. The soil is poor and infertile, a large proporti consisting of coarse red sand. The hills are unpro The chief products are paddy, cumbu, cholam, hor ground-nut and cotton. Paddy and cumbu are the sta crops and ragi is also consumed to some extent. Suga grown in the red loamy soils of the southern portio taluk and a good deal of jaggery is exported to Ráyac Pulivendla. There is also a considerable export of gr and horse-gram to the coast districts. Except the m jaggery, there is no industry worth mentioning.

3. Kadiri, Dorigallu and Patnam are places of arch interest. Iswaramala, Inagalúru, Pálkonda and Pai are the principal trigonometrical stations. The most i villages in the taluk are Kadiri, Kokkanti, Kúrli, I Mutyálacheruvu, Patnam, Talupula, Thanakallu and Tu o-Registrar's office, Forest Range office and a Travellers' ılow. It is a Union of 7,607 inhabitants of whom 2,772 are lmans. Its chief attraction is the famous temple of simhaswámi. The annual car festival in February and h attracts some thousands of devotees and spectators, not from the district, but also from Bellary and Mysore. The le feature of this festival is that two days after the car Mála parasa." The tradition is that the present town and ırroundings were formerly a jungle under the sway of a u Chief of Patnam, and that the town is coeval with the le. There is also another popular tradition which is supposed count for the unique harmony that exists between the local us and Musalmans. Chandravadana, daughter of the : of Patnam, who was in the habit of making periodical to the shrine of Narasimhaswámi, was one day observed ı Arab traveller, Móhiyár, who, fascinated by the maiden's ty and finding no means of winning her hand, became ick, starved and perished near the shrine. Attempts were to remove the dead body but it was found impossible even t it. Chandravadana made an attempt to lift the corpse but to find her hands irretrievably clasped with the Arab's body. She concluded that it was the will of God that she ld die with the Arab and accordingly ascended the coffin. It then that it was possible to lift the corpse. Thus Chandrana was interred alive by the side of Móhiyár. Their grave onoured even at the present day both by the Hindus and almans. This town was obtained by Parwarish Khán as a ír but was resumed by the Mahráttas in 1756. It was red in 1764 by Mír Sáhib who resumed it again in 1773.
